Course Description

An examination of hero figures, ranging broadly from ancient characters such as Gilgamesh to the modern comic book superhero. Literary as well as nonliterary materials (e.g., film, comics, games) will be considered. The objective of this course is to track our cultural fascination with superheroes throughout the past century and place it within a broader literary context of the hero figure in general. Why are we drawn to the superhero? What cultural values are reflected through the superhero? What does the superhero say about us and our society in contrast to earlier societies? How does the superhero compare to older mythologies?

Course Goals and Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, students should be able to:

- A. Situate the figure of the superhero within a broader literary culture.
- B. Understand the superhero as a product of specific cultural and historical forces.
- C. Produce critical analysis on the subject of the superhero.
- D. Understand and appreciate multimodal storytelling
